Council staff anger at new parking charges

STAND by for a Tsunami of on-street parking in Dorchester as angry county council staff threatened that they will park on the streets in protest at plans to charge them for spaces at work. In a stroke the move could undo all the work the council has been doing to try and unclog the county town's residential areas and undermine the plan to ease traffic flows. Dorset County Hospital will also impose extra charges for staff parking on November 1st - adding to the problems of on-street parking.

The decision will mean a doubling of the staff parking charge at DCH - up from £1.50 to £2.50 a day with a further rise, to £3, due next year. Public parking charges at the hospital will not rise, but are already higher than staff rates.

The hospital says it wants to encourage more staff to use alternative modes of transport to get to and from work.

A county council spokesman said the proposed parking charges will simply bring the authority in line with other councils and other large employers where staff are expected to pay for their parking.

Dorset County Council's director for environment Peter Moore said: "In line with many other local authorities and large employers, we are introducing charges for staff parking at County Hall and Lodgers car parks in Dorchester later this year, reducing the significant cost to the council taxpayer of providing staff parking in the process."

Charges may also be introduced at other staff car parks including Winterbourne Monkton, almost two miles from County Hall, where social services and some other staff are now based, having been moved out of Dorchester several years ago. Closure of the town's park and ride earlier this year has already led, by the council's own admission, to at least 50 extra cars a day on Dorchester residential road.

Unison says that staff

JEFFERY Fraser lives in Beaminster and is an organist who has composed numerous pieces of music for church services. He was born in Brisbane, Australia, in 1929 and lived there until 1953 before travelling to England to study music further. Jeffery comes from a musical family. His father had a career in the public service which culminating in being appointed commissioner. He was knighted for his services to the state and, in particular, for the founding of the Queensland Conservatorium of Music. He was a singer and his mother was a pianist. Jeffery has three daughters; the eldest lives in England and the two younger ones have emigrated to Australia. He also has nine grandchildren and a couple of great grandchildren.

● WHAT inspired you to be an organist?
Even as a small child, I remember liking music. But the very first time I heard and organ, I was hooked. I remember drawing organ pipes on my slate in the infants school. The sound fascinated me, the way it kept going and not fading away like that made by pianos. My parents knew I was musical and arranged piano lessons for me, and when I started secondary school I had organ lessons. When I was good enough, I was given the privilege of playing in St John's Cathedral for the 9.30am service on the fifth Sunday in each month. And let's be honest - no other instrument gives you such a feeling of power as being able to control with your fingers and toes the tremendous sound of a large organ, all stops out!

● WHEN did you start composing music?
I composed music as a young child writing a few short pieces. I don't know what inspired me, tunes and harmonies just came into my mind. One won a prize in an eisteddfod. In my teens I composed a couple of part-songs for children's voices. They were sung but not published. Many organists compose occasional music for their choirs, usually when a special piece is needed urgently. I have composed a few.

● TELL us some of the pieces you have composed...
In 1960s my first anthem, "Our Blest Redeemer", was published. I was runner-up in the St Paul's Cathedral Millennium Hymn Competition. My hymn tune "Christopher Wren" was sung in the London Millennium Service in the cathedral to the words which won the second prize, "Hidden Christ, alive forever", by Brian Wren.

Later, I composed music for the organ, and more anthems were published by "Animus Music".
"Blessed are you, Lord" (words by late Revd Joan Fryl) was sung in Wells Cathedral. My organ, "They rest from their Labour" was composed for a local victim of the Twin Towers atrocity in New

● WHAT is next for the music you have composed?
I have composed a set of Responses for Evensong. These are to be sung by Parnham Voices in Wimborne Minster on Sunday, October 30th.
Finally, I have composed a march for Remembrance Day, entitled "Beaminster Veterans". There are plans for it to be played by the Fairey Band in the parade in Beaminster on Remembrance Sunday. And that our organist, Antony Saunders intends to play it in the church.

● WHAT is your biggest achievement?
My biggest achievement? Musically I cannot decide between two: passing the Fellowship of the Royal College of Organists was very difficult indeed, and I am very glad I managed it. Then composing the hymn which was sung in the London Millennium Service in St Paul's Cathedral was a huge thrill. My wife and I were there by invitation.

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

● WHAT do you think is next for you in the future?
At the age of 87, to be around for a bit longer! But I don't think I'll start any long-term projects. I would like to continue composing music. If I am remembered for just one piece (quite a number of composers are) that would be good. I have also started a book - "A Singer's Guide to Reading Music" because those who do not play an instrument find this difficult. I hope to get it finished.

Council parking charges increase for staff

Classed as 'essential users' are particularly incensed about the charges because they have no option, under the terms of their employment, about whether or not they bring their cars to work.

Most are told they have to bring their cars in case they have to go out on urgent, or essential calls, which cannot wait.

"If they think they are going to force me to pay another £10 a week, after years of what are effectively pay cuts, they can forget it. This will wipe out any goodwill which might remain," said one of those protesting about the changes at County Hall.

Said GMB branch convenor Sarah Pattison: "This will have a knock-on affect to residents in the surrounding area, like Fordington and Poundbury, as staff will have little choice but to park on their streets. This has already caused a lot of upset with residents when similar issues happened at the hospital."

Amanda Brown, from Unison, claimed there had been a 16 per cent real-term decrease in salaries over the past four years and making staff pay for parking would cause more hardship. She claims some, lower paid, employees, are already using foodbanks. The union is also upset about what it claims has been a lack of consultation over the changes.

Some staff say they are angry about the way the rules will be interpreted for mileage claims.

At the moment staff who go straight to a job from home usually claim that mileage, less the cost of their normal commute distance, but new rules insist that they will have to come to the office first and then start the work trip from there.

Staff say this will "encourage inefficiency, increase pollution, and put more traffic on the roads, particularly Dorchester."

One officer, who lives on Portland, points out that he sometimes goes straight from home to a work appointment in Weymouth, but with the rules being enforced would have to drive from Portland to County Hall and then back to Weymouth again, before travelling, for the second time, to Dorchester.

£1 million expansion for vets

EXTRA jobs will be created with the opening of a £1million state of the art veterinary centre at Weymouth's Link Park.

Dave Cumber Vets, which already employs around 40 people in Weymouth and Dorchester, say that extra jobs will be created by the move.

The move will not affect the Dorchester surgery but will see a move from the current Weymouth surgery at 176-178 Chickereil Road.

The new 8,000 sq ft premises are located adjacent to the busy B3157 Chickereil Link Road and the well-established Granby Industrial Estate. There is also a direct bus link from Weymouth centre, and the Olympic cycle path runs right past the new surgery.

The new practice will include large modern client waiting areas and will have state of the art diagnostics and treatments, with x-ray, ultrasound and endoscopy suites with separate dog and cat wards. The on-site laboratory facilities will allow for quicker diagnosis and six operating theatres.

Traditional services such as in-house grooming, puppy care and regular health checks will continue at the new surgery. The premises at Link Park will provide free parking for customers and disabled bays and facilities throughout.

Dave Cumber, Director of Dave Cumber Vets said: "We have been looking to re-locate our Weymouth Surgery for a number of years. When we saw what was proposed at Link Park we felt that it had the potential to meet our future needs. Mickey Jones at DJ Property has worked closely with us to develop the unit from design stage to fit-out stage, a bespoke modern veterinary faility that will allow us to continue to provide first class care. Investing over £1million on a project it was important to get the right premises at the right price in the right place and Link Park fitted the bill. We are also pleased to have used local trades when available as we prefer to support other local businesses when possible."

Said Mickey Jones, Chief Executive of DJ Property: "I am delighted to welcome the area's leading veterinary practice to Link Park, further highlighting the quality and prominence of the business park we have created. We constructed a bespoke, high quality shell for Dave and he has invested heavily with both a top quality fit out and some of the best veterinary equipment available. The level of service that Dave Cumber Vets will be able to offer their customers will be unrivalled, ensuring a prosperous future for the business. I am also delighted about the number and the quality of the jobs that Dave Cumber Vets will be bringing to Link Park, further underlining its prominence as the leading employment site in South Dorset."

The Dave Cumber Vets surgery at 86, Mellstock Avenue, Dorchester, will continue to offer pet care as it has always done with customers able to visit the Weymouth surgery for more sophisticated procedures and diagnostics.

Queen's second visit to Poundbury?

FURTHER details about the Queen's visit to Poundbury on Thursday, October 27th, are expected to be announced in the coming days.

She will be accompanied by her husband, The Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and the Duchess of Cornwall, to unveil a statue dedicated to the Queen Mother.

Contrary to our report last week, early Poundbury residents say that the Queen has in fact visited the Poundbury development previously, in 1998. At the time there were only around a hundred completed homes on the Duchy development.

"Her Majesty came to visit Poundbury on May 8th 1998 together with Prince Philip...at the time The Duchy Office was located in Longmore Street and she walked Brookhouse Street up to Flintcombe Square," said Tom Lane who went on to buy a home in Holmead Walk after the visit.

"I remember the date very well as we spoke to Olga Clifford, the sales co-ordination for Fry's who told us that a house we had expressed an interest in a few months earlier was back on the market as the purchaser had dropped out due to a job relocation.

"It was the only property available for sale and we decided, rather impetuously, to buy the property and I gave Olga a deposit that day."

"If we hadn't made a special effort to see The Queen on her visit we would probably have never moved from Buckingham where we were living.

"We moved to Poundbury in December 1998 and absolutely no regrets and have continued to watch the progress and development of such a friendly community to live."

Ambulance service told to improve following inspection

by Trevor Bevins

SOUTH West Ambulance has been praised for its responsiveness and caring services – but told it must do better to fill staff vacancies, improve training and tighten up on reporting problems.

An inspection report from the Care Quality Commission (CQC) said overall the service needed to improve but was rated “outstanding” for providing a caring service, and “good” for being responsive.

The report highlights problems with stress due to pressure of work, abuse towards staff and some suffering from back and other problems associated with the physical nature of the job.

The CQC report said that staff in emergency operations centres and urgent services were “outstanding in the way they supported people who were distressed or overwhelmed”.

In the 19 months until January 2016 the service was better than the national average for responding within eight minutes to life threatening calls. The CQC report described staff morale and motivation as “mixed” claiming that a “significant” number of front line ambulance staff were saying they “felt unwell due to work-related stress or had experienced musculoskeletal problems as a result of work activities”.

SWAS chief executive Ken Wenman said his staff delivered amazing patient care and deserved the “outstanding” rating for caring services.

“I’m assured that the CQC inspection team, without exception, received only positive comments from patients, something I’m told is almost unheard of,” he said.

Mr Wenman said that actions were already being taken to improve services where the CQC report had highlighted shortfalls and had already agreed what he described as a more proactive approach to training.

Dorset businessman’s £3million gift to fellow cancer patients

NEW cancer facilities at Dorset County and Poole Hospitals will be built thanks to the generosity of the late businessman and collector Robert White.

Mr White was the founder of one of the UK’s leading photographic retailers, having started in business with a small camera shop in his home town of Poole. He died of cancer last year and left his collection to be auctioned with the proceeds to benefit patients across Dorset.

The sale, which included hundreds of rare mechanical items including motorcycles, cars, watches and jewellery, raised £3million.

Ben Walker from Bonhams auctioneers said: “Robert curated a fantastic collection, with beautiful items desired by collectors around the world, so it’s of no surprise that the sale has done so well.”

The money raised will help to fund new cancer treatment radiotherapy facilities at Dorset County Hospital as well as a new computerised tomography (CT) scanner and a permanent positron emission tomography (PET) scanner at Poole Hospital together with education and training bursaries to enable staff working in cancer care and associated medical and diagnostic specialities to remain at the cutting edge of best practice.

Debbie Fleming, Chief Executive of Poole Hospital NHS Foundation Trust, said: “We’re so grateful to Robert for his immense gift, which will be of benefit to patients for years to come.”

MP insists he supports Kingfisher campaign following email to mum

WEST Dorset MP Oliver Letwin says he is still fully behind the Kingfisher campaign, despite his response to a mum who emailed him about the plans to downgrade the Special Care Baby Unit at Dorset County Hospital.

Protesters said they were concerned that Mr Letwin would no longer be supporting their campaign after he replied to an email from mum Carolyn Emmett. In his reply Mr Letwin said he had been persuaded that the changes taking place, as reported in last week's View From, would lead to better and safer care and that it would "therefore be entirely irresponsible for me to promote or join any politically opportunistic bandwagon against these proposals."

As reported last week, plans for maternity services and the SCBU at Dorset County Hospital are to be downgraded without consultation, with babies born under 32 weeks, and those that are sick, being sent to Poole Hospital. The CCG argues that these plans are not part of the Clinical Services Review and are therefore not needed to go to consultation.

Speaking to the View From, Mr Letwin clarified his remarks, saying: "This is totally different from the Kingfisher campaign and the clinical services review. I am still determined that we should keep full paediatric services at Dorchester – and I'm delighted to say that, following my support for that campaign and the intervention of the Royal College [of Paediatrics and Child Health], discussions with Yeovil to achieve that ambition are well advanced."

"The current, altogether different issue is whether very premature babies at high risk should be delivered at Poole, which is better equipped to deliver them safely. As my priority is the safety of the mothers and babies involved, I support the proposal, and I hope that others will, on reflection, join me in doing so." he added.

But, Bridport Councillor Ros Kayes said the CCG still had questions to answer. She said: "It complicates matters that the recommendations from the Royal College's report are the same, in part, as these changes - in that they recommend moving babies born under 32 weeks going elsewhere."

"This is what has led to confusion. It would have made sense for the CCG to have spoken about these changes to the Kingfisher mums and local councillors much earlier."

"I would like to know how these changes will impact on the Yeovil proposals. I would also like to know why they have not been brought before the Health Scrutiny Committee before being implemented rather than after the changes have begun."

"This whole process has damaged the general public's trust in the CCG. It has been a PR disaster for them and, worst of all, it will adversely affect young families."

"What it tells me is this - it is imperative that all health bodies commissioning services are completely open and transparent and in a timely fashion about change and that one NHS structure does not hide behind another in order to slip through unpopular changes in order to avoid the NHS duty to consult with the public."

"I would like to know, therefore, what consultation NHS England has run on this issue," she added.

Members of the Kingfisher group will also be joining a Dorset-wide demonstration about NHS funding in the county, in Poole Park on Saturday.

Nurse on the run

COMMUNITY Nurse Lucy Moxham from Weymouth will be taking part in her first running race this weekend – raising money for Weldmar Hospicecare.

Lucy, who works for the hospice service, will be taking part in the 13-mile Great West Run on Sunday 16th October in Exeter – just four months after starting running.

Lucy has been working for Weldmar Hospicecare for almost a year, and is looking forward to her biggest challenge yet.

"I want to do it to raise money and support Weldmar with all the fantastic work the charity does; providing specialist palliative care and support to patients, families, carers and also other health professionals. We provide an invaluable service throughout Dorset and if, by running, I can raise awareness and some money then I'll be happy".

She was inspired to take up running by her colleague and friend, Weldmar Community Nurse Karen Samuel, who ran in the London Marathon earlier this year.

Karen said: "Lucy has achieved so much in so little time with all her training. She is full of determination and I know she will smash it! She has overcome many hurdles and remains focussed on running for such a great cause".

Weldmar Hospicecare Trust cares for patients with cancer and other progressive conditions, such as motor neurone disease, which require specialist help. Patients in north, south and west Dorset have a seamless service, whether they require care and advice in the comfort of their own homes, in the Wellbeing Centres or the inpatient unit at Joseph Weld Hospice.

If anyone wishes to support Lucy with her challenge, she can be sponsored online at <https://www.justgiving.com/Lucy-Moxham2> or by calling the Weldmar Fundraising Team on 01305 261800.

King's Arms conversion delayed until the new year

CONVERSION plans for Dorchester's King's Arms Hotel have delayed – which means the building is unlikely to re-open for another year.

New owners, Draco, had hoped to have the building up and running again by this spring but say they have been delayed by talks over the re-design with West Dorset District Council.

An application, which was initially due to be considered in July, has still not come before councillors, which the company say they cannot understand.

West Dorset planning chair Cllr Ian Gardner said that discussions between the planning department and the agents are 'ongoing' and that an update will be published in "due course."

MP gives backing to TIC campaign

WEST Dorset MP Oliver Letwin has given his backing to the campaign to keep Dorchester's Tourist Information Centre.

The consultation over the future of the service closed on Tuesday, October 11th.

Mr Letwin said in a letter to a district councillor: "I very much hope that WDDC will be able to find a way of accommodating a new centre on a full and sustainable basis either in the library or elsewhere.

"I believe that this would be preferable to having an unstaffed tourist information point."

Dorchester BID chairman John Fiori has asked the council to meet with the BID and other interested groups to discuss the options.

A petition to keep the Tourist Information Office has attracted around 1,000 signatures.

The district council had originally planned to move the office inside their former headquarters in High West Street as part of the Tolpuddle Martyrs Crown Court project.

COOK is named top of the shops

FROZEN food store COOK has won a Dorchester BID competition – after being voted for by customers.

Near neighbours in the Tudor Arcade, The Fridge, were voted runner up with the Three Legged Llama coming third.

More than 70 businesses received votes in the competition.

Others who made the top ten were the Plaza Cinema, Great Western Camping, Finca, Goldcrest Jewellers, the Tourist Information Centre, the Gilded Teapot and Trinity Stores.

IT was another successful year for the annual DASP Family Festival of Science at Thomas Hardy School.

Hundreds of visitors of all ages attended the event, which provided a Rocket Show in the theatre, an inflatable dome containing the stars and planets, and numerous other hands on activities based in the school's science and maths departments.

Many companies and organisations took part including Southampton University's outreach team who brought their popular inflatable planetarium, showing films and views of the solar system and beyond.

"We take the Astrodome to schools and give shows to all ages," said Sadie Jones, Outreach Leader from the University.

"We've had a great response today. All of the tickets have gone. They're all free and the dome allows people to have a hands on experience of space they wouldn't get normally."

"It is fun to come to the science day. I've been to two labs already. In one I saw these little creatures swimming in tubs of water and the other had these things that you put on animals to see what they are doing and where they sleep and eat," said Elijah.

Meanwhile down the corridor, young Rose was learning about what can delicately be described as the end stages of the digestive process, with Dr Georgina Collington from Thomas Hardye School.

"We had to get it through your small intestine and then through your large intestine and get all the water out. They had mustard and sweetcorn and brown sauce and stuff and it felt a bit slimy," she said with a smile.

Work to start on flooding hotspot

IMPROVEMENT work is set to start to install new drainage at a flooding hotspot near Dorchester.

Work will start on the West Stafford Bypass on Monday (October 17th), for 16 weeks, to refurbish and improve existing drainage, clear existing soak-away chambers and extend the drainage ditch on the north side of the road.

As well as these highway works, there will also be a bund built and a filter fence installed in adjacent farmland which will stop silt from getting into the drainage system.

Andrew Martin, Dorset County Council Service Director for Highways, said: "These drainage improvements have been designed following investigation work earlier this year, and will get surface water to clear more quickly.

"We've also been working with landowners to address issues caused by heavy rain water carrying silt into the drainage system from adjacent land."

For the safety of drivers, and for workers, temporary two-way lights will be used to control traffic throughout the work.

Councillor Andy Canning, elected member for Linden Lea division, said: "Drivers will have to plan their journeys more carefully to allow for any delay these works might cause, but please be patient and try to look forward to having a road that stays open after heavy rainfall."

Engineers will be monitoring the improvements to see if any further work is needed in the future to ensure the flooding risk is minimised.

The West Stafford Bypass was built in 1992, with the first recorded road closure due to flood water in 2012. Traffic analysts at INRIX have the road being recorded as closed at least 20 times in the last four years; twice in 2012, eight times in 2013, six times in 2014 and four times in 2015.

Clown craze sweeps county

THE "killer" clown craze that has swept across America has arrived in Dorset.

The prank, which involves people dressing up as clowns to scare members of the public, has been reported in the county.

Dorset Police have received a number of reports of people being frightened by those dressed in clown costumes between Friday, October 7th and Sunday, October 9th, with incidents taking place in Bournemouth, Christchurch and Blandford.

In one of the incidents, a man was assaulted by another man who had his face painted like a clown, however, no arrests have been made.

Bournemouth North Neighbourhood Inspector Dave Kewley said: "While it is obviously not an offence to wear a costume in public, we would ask people to think about their behaviour toward others and what impact it may have.

"Anti-social behaviour and any actions that cause fear and distress will not be tolerated and could constitute a public order offence. Incidents such as these may seem harmless but can be frightening to those who experience it."

■ KATY Ashman, from Musica Dorset, with residents, visitors and staff at Maiden Castle House care home

Music sessions bring fun to Dorset care homes

LOCAL health and care watchdog Healthwatch Dorset has launched a series of free music sessions for care home residents across Dorset.

Healthwatch Dorset is working with local organisation, Musica Dorset, to bring fun, interactive music sessions to 12 local care homes. The first session at Maiden Castle Care Home in Dorchester saw residents, staff and visitors taking part, singing and playing along to songs by the Beatles, Bob Dylan and tracks from musicals like Oklahoma and Mary Poppins.

Joyce Guest, Healthwatch Dorset chairperson, said: “We allocate some of our funding every year to community projects with local charities. One of those projects is with Musica Dorset who work with care home staff, families and friends, and most importantly with the residents themselves, to run meaningful music workshops.

“Music is a wonderful way of connecting with older people who have memory loss. The son of one of the residents at Maiden Castle House care home told us that his mother’s dementia has made her more and more withdrawn, so it was lovely to see her taking part and playing percussion instruments along to the music.”

Katy Ashman from Musica Dorset said: “We had a lot of fun and it was great to have four generations of one family together for a birthday at Maiden Castle House care home.

“These funded sessions mean I can run music workshops at care homes that Musica Dorset can’t normally visit - thanks to Healthwatch for their support.”

Healthwatch Dorset is also planning volunteer led visits to another eight care homes across the county in October to find how residents are being supported to lead full and active lives. They will be looking at how care homes engage with their residents, families, carers and local communities, how they provide activities, involve residents in decision making and encourage interaction and independence.

Healthwatch Dorset really wants to hear from residents, their family, friends and care home staff. They’ll use all the feedback they gather to identify and share good practice and to make recommendations to improve services.

Going behind the scenes at hospital this weekend

DORSET County Hospital is gearing up for its popular annual open event this weekend.

Previous events have seen hundreds of people coming to take a glimpse behind the scenes.

This year’s event is happening on Saturday, October 15th from 2pm to 5pm.

Favourite activities such as the CPR challenge and teddy bear clinic will be running as well as tours of departments not usually open to the public.

This year’s programme includes theatres, pharmacy and the endoscopy department. The clinical simulation suite team will also be running demonstrations.

Free health checks will be offered by nurses and clinicians, including blood pressure, respiratory tests and mole checks.

For younger visitors they can bring along their favourite cuddly toy or doll to have their heart listened to, or for them to receive a bandage.

The hospital has also teamed up with colleagues in the local ambulance service and the Dorset BikeSafe team so there will be emergency vehicles on site.

There will be a range of displays in the Education Centre (East Wing) from departments around the Trust, including Research and Development, ICT, DCH Charity and Trust membership. The recruitment and volunteering teams will also be there to discuss opportunities to join the staff at the hospital.

Damers Restaurant will be offering a wide range of refreshments and home-made cakes on the day.

There will also be the opportunity to hear about the future of Dorset County Hospital during a presentation about the Trust’s strategy.

Visitors on arrival should go to the Education Centre in East Wing to collect a programme and tour tickets.

Chief Executive Patricia Miller said: “This is a chance for us to showcase the wonderful work that goes on at the hospital, often behind the scenes. Visitors can be sure of gaining a fascinating insight into the many different departments and services within the hospital.

“Staff have put a lot of work into organising this afternoon and I hope as many people as possible will make the most of this opportunity to find out more about how their local hospital operates.”

Tours and displays will run from the hospital’s Education Centre which can be found in East Wing on the ground floor, Level 0.

Merchant Navy Memorial to be unveiled

A NEW memorial on Weymouth Esplanade to commemorate members of the Merchant Navy who lost their lives in war and conflict will be unveiled on Wednesday, November 9th.

The Weymouth, Portland and District branch of the Merchant Navy Association (MNA) are to erect the memorial opposite the bandstand on the seafront.

Captain Paul Compton, Chairman of the Weymouth, Portland and District branch of the MNA, explained the significance of this event: "Weymouth and Portland has a very long maritime history and it is only fitting that we honour the brave men and women who lost their lives at sea while serving their country and their communities.

"I cannot begin to convey just how grateful the committee is to all of those who have supported this project from the beginning, including everyone who has bought a raffle ticket or made a donation this year. The memorial is so close to the hearts of many in our community and I am proud to see it all coming together."

Work will start to erect the memorial next week, before its grand unveiling on Wednesday, November 9th at 11am.

At 92, retired Bosun Tony Cash is one of the association's oldest members, who says he can't wait for the unveiling: "It is so important that we remember the sacrifice of all those men and women who lost their lives at sea in the First World War, Second World War and other conflicts around the world. I have waited a long time for this day. It will be very moving to see the memorial on the Esplanade, a permanent reminder of their sacrifice."

The memorial has been carved on Portland, appropriately using Portland Stone, the bronze fittings have been moulded in Bridport and the railings have been made in Weymouth. David Kennett, a former Chief Engineer in the Merchant Navy came up with the idea for the shape of the memorial: "The memorial depicts the raised bow of a sinking ship. It has such a deep and important meaning."

The memorial will be unveiled by The Lord Lieutenant of Dorset, with the Mayor of Weymouth and Portland Richard Kosier and Mayoress Caroline Churchill in attendance. The Mayor chose the Weymouth, Portland and District branch of the MNA as one of his charities this year and chairman Paul Compton is grateful for the support: "We are indebted to the Mayor Richard Kosier and Mayoress Caroline Churchill for the support they have given this project. Our mayoress has spent several days of her own time fundraising in local supermarkets so a big thank you to her and to everyone who stopped to put their change in the pot. It all helps!"

The Merchant Navy Association wish to extend their invitation to the unveiling to everyone who would like to share a very special moment in the town's history.

The association are still fundraising for the memorial. If you would like to make a donation, you can do so by dropping it in to The Globe or the Royal Oak in Weymouth or by emailing the committee: merchantnavywpd@uwclub.net.

Keen to promote economic resurgence on Portland

AN update on developments at Castletown, Portland, was given to local businesses during a meeting in Weymouth.

Speaker Derek Luckhurst, chairman of the Agincare Group, talked about the history of the area and its links to the 1944 D-Day landings and the bringing home of the bodies destined for the USA.

Mr Luckhurst is planning a museum on the site and a 5,000 square metre underwater park for scuba divers to explore in Portland Harbour.

He also talked about other Portland developments including Comer Homes 350 new apartments, Zero C 68 homes, HCA the community agency, Portland Port, Sunseeker, Jurassic, the Dean and Redyhoff Marina, Portland Heights Hotel, Pennsylvania Castle, and the MEMO project.

Mr Luckhurst said: "I am keen to see an economic resurgence on Portland, including attracting divers back to the area - and how wonderful if we could have a Portland to Weymouth ferry and may be a Portland to France ferry."

His Agincare Group has 50 care and nursing home sites in the country, a £60 million turnover and some 3,000 employees - 80 of them working at their Castletown Headquarters.

To finish his talk Mr Luckhurst asked the question: "With all that is happening on Portland could we be looking to a Portland and Weymouth Council in future?"

Mr Luckhurst was speaking at the Weymouth and Portland Chamber of Commerce Business Breakfast which took place at Weymouth Pavilion.

In the absence of President Michelle Hind, members were hosted by Shenis Cant, Vice President, who presented certificates to new members: Barry Huett from Milsted Langdon; Nick Spence from Dolphin-Design 2012 Ltd; Raina Summerson CEO - Agin-

London-themed beer festival pulls in praise

THOUSANDS of pints were poured down eager throats when Weymouth held its huge annual beer festival.

The event at the Pavilion Ocean Room, which has been organised by the West Dorset branch of the Campaign for Real Ale since 2005, was packed. This year's theme was the M25 corridor from inside which most of the beers for the festival were sourced.

Chairman Dave Harris said: "We wanted to reflect the resurgence of small breweries in London, particularly for porters and stouts."

"There is a brewing trend at the moment to experiment with a worldwide range of hop varieties and this reflects the range of new beers we had for the festival and its wide range of flavours. All the signs are that the festival is going from strength to strength with a noticeable increase in lunchtime ticket sales."

All around him were drinkers enjoying everything from Lambeth Walk and Orchid Vanilla Mild to Railway Porter, Pentonville Oyster Stout and Dockers Delight.

Bar manager Rich Gabe said: "London has a strong brewing heritage and porter was created there. It unfortunately died out in 1960-1980, but new breweries have since sprung up and there has definitely been a resurgence in porters and stouts using traditional brewing methods."

Rich made history at the festival by becoming the first person ever to taste a pint of Trawlerman, a new seasonal beer from Palmers Brewery in Bridport. He said it was an excellent example of an autumnal chestnut ale. Drinkers were also able to enjoy a range of ciders. And cider spokesman Alex Bardswell said: "For the first time we had a cider from Scotland called Whisky Cask because it has been kept in whisky casks."

"We had three fruit ciders and, believe it or not, an elderflower gin and tonic cider from Snails Bank orchard in Hereford. We also had three perries and eight general ciders. It has been a good year for cider so I brought along 11 different cider apples to show drinkers the range in size and colour."

Festival main sponsor Vic Irvine, of Cerne Abbas Brewery, said: "The diversity of the beers from London was wonderful and I particularly liked the taste of Electric IPA from Brixton."

The event is being held this Thursday, October 13th from 10am to noon at Rowan Cottage in Prince of Wales Road.

The charity supports older people in the local area to lead happy, healthy, and independent lives.

"Our work is carried out by providing activities, support, and advice, made possible by a brilliant team of staff and volunteers. If you've ever been interested in volunteering with older people, or think you have a relative who might enjoy a weekly visit to our activity centre then the morning is your chance to find out more," said Communications Officer, Sam Ling.

"We will be serving tea and coffee with home-made cakes and friendly faces, and it would be lovely to welcome as many people as possible. Whether you've got a friend of family member you think might benefit from our work, you're thinking of volunteering with us, or you'd just like to know a bit more about that odd looking building on prince of wales road, then do pop in, as we'd love to see you."

■ A ROMAN coffin, discovered in Dorchester in the 1960s, has gone on display at the Brownsword Hall.

It was found during works for the electricity board at the town's Grove trading estate in 1963.

It was one of hundreds discovered in what was a Romano-Christian graveyard dating from the 4th century AD.

When it was found it contained the remains of a man and was discovered underneath a single chapel or mausoleum. Gold fibres were also discovered.

Archaeologists believe he may have been a high ranking individual, possibly a member of the clergy.

The coffin itself is made of ham stone which is likely to have come from the Ham Hill area, some 25 miles away, near Yeovil.

Ashley Cooper Turf & Transport

AN exciting new product for us at Ashley Cooper Turf & Transport – Meadow Mats!
 Since WW2, 98% of the UK's wildflower meadows have been lost; which is such a shame, as these species-rich areas were also a source of food and shelter for countless insects; butterflies and bees to name two, as well as birds and others that contribute to the food chain. All is not lost though; if every gardener in the UK were to turn 10% of their garden into a wild flower area, we could reinstate 10,000 acres of butterfly habitat!
 Hence our new product MeadowMats: - Pre-grown mats to give you instant ground cover. Meadow mats establish fast and will flower in their first season (some not until their second season). Mixed perennial and biennial plants that will keep flowering year after year. Low maintenance. With plant species that are hardy throughout the UK.

Types of Meadow Mat available:
 Traditional MeadowMat – an old fashioned hay meadow mix of grasses and flowers.
 MeadowMat for Birds and Bees – 20% grass, 80% flower mixture, a plant selection especially rich in nectar for summer insects.
 Cottage Garden MeadowMat - a glorious blend of native and no-native plants and grasses, bringing a beautiful splash of colour to your garden.
 MeadowMat for Woodland Shade – subtle hues of woodland wildflowers into the shadier parts of your garden.
 Don't forget all our usual products and services; excellent quality turf – delivered for you to lay, or use our Supply and Lay service. Top soil, bark mulches, etc. Call for further information, or to arrange a free, on site, no obligation quote.

TULIP TIPS

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

OF all the bulbs, tulips are probably the most varied in size and colour, ranging from dainty dwarf specimens to frilly, feathery forms and stand-up-straight majestic types. They don't need planting as early as narcissi or snowdrops. In fact, tulips shouldn't be planted before the end of October, as early planting will result in soft growth which is susceptible to the fungal disease, tulip fire.
 If you're growing them in pots, generally they are best grown alone because they don't survive a typical summer without being lifted and dried off after flowering.
 If you want a stand-alone colour and type of bulb, consider sowing grass seed on the surface soil once you've planted the bulbs, which will create a swathe of green as the bulbs emerge, avoiding visible empty pockets of soil.
 However, you can achieve some gorgeous combinations which could also help hide the unsightly appearance of the bulbs once they have finished flowering and are starting to look straggly.
 Variegated dwarf ribbon grass, for example, is an excellent pairing with the deep burgundy Tulipa 'Queen of Night'. The grass makes a terrific foil for the almost-black tulip flowers and will last long after the blooms have gone.

GARDENS

making your garden glorious

If you are planting a single layer of bulbs, fill the pot to within four or five times the depth of the bulb from the top of the pot. You can plant the bulbs closer together in a pot than you would in the ground, leaving them around 1cm apart if they are small tulips, but a bit more space for varieties with larger blooms. Then fill the rest of the pot with compost, up to around 3cm from the top of the rim. Also, be aware that tall bulbs in shallow containers don't generally succeed.

When planting, the most important thing is that the soil is well drained. Add a handful of grit to multi-purpose compost at planting time and place crocks, small stones or broken pieces of polystyrene plant trays in the base and ensure you have drainage holes in the container.

Stand the pot on feet to stop autumn and winter moisture seeping in upwards from the ground and rotting the bulbs.

In severe winter weather, move the pots closer to the house so they escape the worst of the excess wet and chilling wind. But once the days become slightly warmer in early spring, move them out into the open and don't let the pots dry out or you'll be left with stunted foliage and poor flowers.

Once the bulbs are in full leaf growth, the pots should be watered periodically, when the compost feels dry.

So, which tulips do best in pots? Well, in deep pots you might go for tall varieties such as triumph whose stems grow up to 40cm, flowering in late spring. These include T. 'Prinses Irene', which has glowing orange blooms flamed with purple, and 'Bing Crosby', a scarlet variety.

Shorter single early tulips such as 'Apricot Beauty' also work well in pots, as do taller single late and Darwin tulips including 'World's Favourite', a hot orange-red type, or the lily-flowered T. 'Ballerina', with its vibrant orange flowers which open fully on sunny days.

In fact, most tulips are perfect for pots - just avoid those with weak stems and very heavy flowers which are prone to flopping.

Many bulbs grown in pots can be left in the compost if they are kept completely dry during the dormant period in summer. A frost-free greenhouse or cold frame is ideal and many gardeners lay the pots on their sides.

Tulips must have a dry rest after flowering, so if you plant summer bedding on top of them which you are intending to regularly water all summer, don't leave the bulbs in the container or they will just rot. You'll need to lift and dry them after they die down and store them safely until late autumn.

WHAT TO DO THIS WEEK

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

- Place dustbins full of water under greenhouse staging. They warm up during the day, releasing their heat at night and act as storage heaters.
- Plant out hardy primulas raised from seed or divisions.
- Harvest cobnuts, hazelnuts and filberts when husks begin to yellow, but before they start dropping.
- Continue to pick fast maturing vegetables, such as French beans, runner beans, courgettes, cucumbers, peppers and tomatoes, to prevent them becoming stringy, tough or bitter.
- Where grass growth is thin and sparse, overseed now with a suitable grass seed mixture.
- Lift onions and shallots once the foliage has started to die back.
- Take cuttings of rosemary, lavender, bay and hyssop.
- Take hardwood cuttings from gooseberry bushes to increase stock.
- Sow sweet peas in a cold frame or the greenhouse for early summer blooms next year.
- Plant new perennials while the soil is still warm, but moisture levels are increasing.
- Wait for the first frosts to hit dahlias and cannas before lifting the tubers or rhizomes.
- Buy spring-flowering bedding plants, such as bellis, primula, wallflowers and violas.
- Prune out any dead, dying or diseased shoots on fruit trees that are affected by diseases such as bacterial canker, cherry leaf scorch, powdery mildew or other problems that can overwinter.

IT'S TIME FOR PARSNIPS

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

THEY are among my favourite root vegetables, whether in soups and casseroles, or dipped in finely grated Parmesan or even maple syrup and roasted, as a Sunday lunch accompaniment.

Pick a spot in sun or light shade and prepare the soil in autumn, removing stones. A deep, light soil is best for root formation. Rake in a general purpose fertiliser when preparing the seed bed.

Seeds should be sown thinly in spring. Be patient, because they are slow to germinate - it can take up to five weeks. To help you remember where they are when you are weeding, sow a quick-growing crop such as radishes among them.

Parsnips don't need much looking after. Keep weeding and water if there is a prolonged dry spell. The roots should be ready for lifting when the leaves begin to die down in autumn. They can be left in the ground whatever the weather, so just lift them as you need them.

Good varieties include 'Tender and True' and 'Gladiator', said to be resistant to canker, with smooth, tapered roots and ideal for small gardens.

A MOVING EXPERIENCE

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

ARE your borders looking overgrown and overcrowded? If some of your stalwart shrubs and perennials have outgrown their space or simply aren't thriving in their current position, it may be time to move them. The best time to transplant shrubs is while they are dormant, between late autumn and early spring. Choose a day when the ground isn't frozen or waterlogged.

There's always a risk when you move plants and the larger the plant, the more risk there is that you'll lose it. But there are ways to minimise that risk.

Small herbaceous perennials and compact shrubs are relatively easy to move if you water them thoroughly and then dig them up with as much root as possible, repositioning them somewhere where there's more room or where conditions are more favourable. Water them in well and keep them well watered during the autumn in the absence of rainfall.

Mature shrubs are harder work to move, but it's best to do it after a bout of rain.

Generally those that move most easily are the ones with fibrous roots - masses of thin roots which remain shallow in the soil. More problematic to move are those with tap roots, which are much thicker and there are fewer of them. It's difficult to move these without breaking the roots.

First, decide where you are going to replant any large shrubs. Dig a hole slightly bigger than the root ball of soil is going to be and add organic matter to the soil as well as slow-release fertiliser.

For trauma-free transplanting of large shrubs, first make a wide circle at least 30cm from the shrub with a spade and dig a deep trench following the circle's curve. Use a garden fork to loosen the earth around the ball of the roots, then gently fork the surplus earth from around the roots.

If the stems or branches of the shrub are unwieldy, tie them loosely with garden string so they don't snap off or get damaged during the excavation.

Once the ball of roots has been loosened, dig your spade under the root ball as far as you can, levering gently as you go around the circle. The aim is to keep as large a root ball attached to the plant as possible.

When you feel the shrub move, tilt it to one side and slide a length of plastic sheeting or sacking underneath the root ball. Tilt the shrub the other way and manoeuvre the sacking so that it comes underneath the whole root ball, then wrap it up and tie it around the trunk securely, to minimise water loss and keep the root ball and soil intact.

Unwrap the sacking and carefully place the shrub in its original depth. Fill the hole with displaced soil, firm in gently with the ball of your foot to get rid of any air pockets and give it a good soaking. Water regularly until the plant becomes established and mulch with organic matter. Large shrubs may need support for a year or two.

Safe, Secure & very, very strong....

Businesses urged to share their views on council proposals

BUSINESSES are being urged to have their say about a proposed shake-up of local councils at a consultation event being held by Dorset Chamber Commerce and Industry (DCCI) in Weymouth.

DCCI is staging the free session at Weymouth College on Thursday, October 20th, on behalf of the county's local authorities to provide a business perspective about the proposals.

It is also holding a similar event in Poole at the Sandbanks Hotel on Tuesday October 18th.

The county's nine local authorities will be reorganised into two 'super councils' from 2019 onwards if plans go ahead.

DCCI, the voice of business in Dorset with about 800 members representing more than 37,000 employees, is encouraging firms to give their views.

Both consultation events are from 8.30am to 10.30am, free to attend and are open to both members and non-members of DCCI at director and business owner level.

Chief executives of councils will be at the meetings, which will include presentations about the proposed models and the opportunity for comments and questions.

Ian Girling, chief executive of DCCI, said: "It is important businesses understand the implications of the proposed models and the impact this will have on issues such as business rates, housing, planning, infrastructure and economic development.

"These events are a chance for businesses across the county to find out more and give input from a business perspective about the most significant local government changes for a generation."

Tony Williams, chief executive of Bournemouth Borough Council, on behalf of Dorset chief executives, said: "These proposals offer a great opportunity for a significant reform of the structure of the nine individual local authorities in Dorset.

"The economy is at the heart of this and it is essential businesses are aware of and have the opportunity to inform the debate and put their views forward."

Business owners and director can attend either or both events – called Reshaping Your Councils,

■ DCCI chief executive Ian Girling

Consultation on Unitary Proposals for Dorset – regardless of where their business is based in the county.

The nine councils are Bournemouth Borough Council, Borough of Poole, Christchurch Borough Council, Dorset County Council, East Dorset District Council, North Dorset District Council, Purbeck District Council, West Dorset District Council and Weymouth and Portland Borough Council.

Visit www.dcci.co.uk/events-and-training to register.

Charity in search of volunteer trustee

WEYMOUTH Town Charities is trying to recruit a volunteer trustee.

The group would particularly like to hear from anyone with either property management/maintenance experience, or experience of working with young people in an educational, sport or developmental role.

Gary Hepburn, Chairman of Weymouth Town Charities said: "Continuing the work of Sir Samuel Mico as he decreed back in 1666 and Sir Henry Edwards as set down in 1896 is not only a privilege but is very fulfilling.

"We have a very active band of trustees who take their responsibilities very seriously and we all look forward to be joined by a newly appointed trustee later this year who can continue to support the important work of the trust."

The board of trustees manage charitable funds dating back as far as 1666. This is split into two groups of charities, the Sir Samuel Mico Charities, which provides scholarships, educational and developmental grants to around 100 young people aged 16 to 24 each year, and the Sir Henry Edwards Charities which provides low cost accommodation to elderly people who cannot afford to own, or rent a property.

Trustees need to reside, or have occupation, or employment in, or other special knowledge of the borough of Weymouth & Portland.

To express an interest send a letter stating why you would like to become a trustee together with an up to date CV to: Howard Jones, Clerk to The Trustees, Weymouth Town Charities, 26 St Thomas Street, Weymouth, Dorset, DT4 8EJ.

The closing date for expressions of interest is Friday, October 28th.

Something for everyone in Littlemoor during half-term

A WEEK-long programme of events is planned for Littlemoor during October half term week.

The events are being organised by the Big4Littlemoor Better Living Group.

They are asking residents to come and try various activities ranging from messing around with clay to Tai Chi, and cooking some unusual foods.

The Big4Littlemoor Better Living Group, part of the bigger Big4Littlemoor Project, has brought together several organisations to offer a selection of activities for residents in and around Littlemoor.

The events will take place in the library, the community centre, the Top Club and outside.

Working in partnership with Budgens, there will be a range of organisations able to offer free advice about Dementia and other items of interest to older people and help and advice with various needs.

"Are you interested in encouraging others to living better?" Gill Paterson, a project coordinator for Big4Littlemoor says, "There will be talks and informal chats on subjects like living with diabetes, reducing your meal portion sizes and what to eat to keep you full, to talks about drug, and alcohol additions."

"Are you interested in encouraging others to living better? Have you had an illness that you would like to share your experience with others, we would love to hear from you," added Mrs Paterson.

"We are launching a new scheme in January called Better Living Buddies - and you could join Clare, Charlie, Lynwood and Julie and talk to others in Littlemoor about support available to lose weight, stop smoking or take up healthy activities plus at the same time learn new skills."

It is an authorised IB World School offering the International Baccalaureate Primary Years Programme, a brand new Clavis Programme specifically designed for Yrs 7 and 8, IGCSEs, GCSEs and Cambridge International AS & A Levels.

The school believes that pastoral excellence, a harmonious environment with great facilities and bespoke teaching with a strong focus on each individual pupil in their care, is reflected in an impressive set of results this year. As a non-selective school, St John's were delighted that this summer over 95% of pupils gained 5 or more GCSEs at A*-C with over 40% achieving A*/A in Maths alone.

Fancy studying overseas for a term?

Illustrated history of Dorset men

AUTHOR The Reverend Doctor John Travell FRSA (left) welcomes Lord Fellows of West Stafford DL (centre) and HM High Sheriff of Dorset Sir Philip Williams Bt. JP DL. Photograph by Michel Hooper-Immins.

AN illustrated history of the Society of Dorset Men has been published – tracing its 112-year history.

The book has been produced by Dorchester-based Reverend, Doctor John Travell, the Society's Chaplain and Historian.

The 98-page book was unveiled at Dorset County Museum by society president, Lord Fellowes.

"I am delighted that this account of the society has been written," said ITV playwright and Oscar winner Lord Fellowes in the foreword.

"There is a good deal of fascinating detail to be explored and what pleases me most, is that there is throughout, the strong sense that this society has always been for all the people of Dorset."

The society was originally formed in London with Thomas Hardy writing a letter of support when the first meeting was on July 7th 1904.

Sir Frederick Treves was the first president. The Dorchester-born surgeon famously saved the life of King Edward VII by operating on his appendix, postponing his coronation.

Hardy became president in 1907, coining the motto "Who's afeard," later adopted by Dorset County Council.

From the 1960s, a dinner was held in Dorset every year – as well as one in London. The 1983 London Dinner took place at the Mansion House, hosted by Lord Mayor Sir Anthony Jolliffe who was born in Weymouth and elected president in 1984. London dinners ceased in 1991, but the Dorset county dinner is still a great success, the next being held on Saturday, October 29th.

Modern events are also covered in the book, such as the planting of a cedar of Lebanon tree in the grounds of Minterne House to mark The Queen's Diamond Jubilee in 2012. This was the last public duty performed by the late Roy Adam MBE, chairman of the society for 21 years, assisted by his son Stuart, the current Chairman, and the 12th Lord Digby.

An illustrated history of The Society of Dorset Men is on sale for £6 from the Tourist Information Centre at Dorchester; Books Afloat at Weymouth, Waterstones at Dorchester & Bridport, Dorchester Post Office and the Keep Military Museum in Dorchester.

Individual books can be ordered by post from Andy Hutchings at 23 Hereford Road, Weymouth, Dorset DT4 0QB at a cost of £8- including UK postage. Cheques should be made payable to The Society of Dorset Men.

Membership of The Society of Dorset Men costs £10 a year.

For further information, visit www.societyofdorsetmen.co.uk/page8.html or telephone membership secretary Peter Lush at 01305 260039.

Free Will writing service for wildlife trust members

LOCAL solicitors are backing the Dorset Wildlife Trust Free Will Writing service for the fourth year running.

The service is available to DWT's 26,000 members across Dorset until the end of October.

The service is to allow any DWT member to make a new will, or update an existing one, and includes the option of leaving a gift for wildlife.

The Trust says that it relies on 25% of its work being funded through gifts in Wills.

A recent legacy left to DWT by a long-standing member was able to fund a new state-of-the-art tractor for Kingcombe Meadows Nature Reserve.

Individual Giving Officer, Jodi Hibbard said: "Over the years DWT has seen the huge impact large and small gifts in Wills have made to the future of our reserves. 25% of our work relies on gifts in Wills, and any donations made will go directly into conservation work in Dorset. We are delighted to be able to give our members the opportunity to have access to this Free Will Service kindly offered by a network of local solicitors."

Solicitors taking part in this scheme in Dorset include Battens, Coles Miller, Humphries Kirk and Kitson Trotman.

Natalie Mason from Battens solicitors said, "We had no hesitation in taking part again in Dorset Wildlife Trust's Free Will month, not only does it provide valuable support to a charity that is close to our hearts, it actively encourages people to take that important step to make Will."

Those interested in taking part can phone Jodi Hibbard at DWT on 01305 264620. Further information about gifts in Wills and the impact it has on the work of the Trust can be seen at www.dorsetwildlifetrust.org.uk/gifts\_in\_wills

Highways team receive public service award

DORSET Highways team has been given a public service award for its winter maintenance and street lighting team.

It has been awarded the Best Service Team: Highways, Winter Maintenance & Street Lighting at this year's Association for Public Service Excellence awards.

The Association for Public Service Excellence (APSE) awards attracted more than 320 submissions from 100-plus organisations taking part from across England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

The award recognised improved efficiency and better customer satisfaction in Dorset County Council's highways service.

It took into account the review of the service in the past year to deliver savings of £750,000, the focused approach to managing its highway network and the successful completion of the A338 Bournemouth Spur Road major maintenance scheme.

Councillor Peter Finney, Cabinet member for environment, infrastructure and highways, said: "We're delighted to have won this award, which recognises the hard work of everyone who works in our highways service."

APSE Chief Executive Paul O'Brien said: "The winners of these awards are amongst the best at delivering outstanding public frontline services. APSE works continually to encourage public service excellence and we are delighted that all our finalists and winning councils are so highly committed to delivering the best possible services for the benefit of their communities."

Charity grant to help children with disabilities

DIVERSE Abilities, Dorset's disability charity, has received a grant of £60,000 from the St James's Place Foundation.

The grant will help towards funding a vital role within the charity's children team for a period of three years.

Children with disabilities in Dorset that attend the service have the opportunity to take part a range of different experiences that enrich their lives – including soft play sessions, trampolining, swimming, tennis, music, cinema trips and visits to theme parks.

Mark Longbottom, head of St James' Place Foundation, said: "We are very pleased to have been able to donate £60,000 to Diverse Abilities.

"This will benefit the charity significantly and ensure a vital service can continue to run for children with disabilities, and their families."

Martin Brunt, senior partner at Lester Brunt Wealth Management, which is a senior partner practice within the St James's Place Foundation said: "We have been supporting Diverse Abilities for a number of years now and the work they do is incredible.

"We are extremely delighted that the St James's Place Foundation is also supporting the Dorset charity and that they were able to donate this amazing grant.

"We looking forward to Lester Brunt Wealth Management and the St James's Place Foundation increasing its involvement with Diverse Abilities in the future.

Jazz Jurassica this week

JAZZ Jurassica, Lyme Regis's first pop up supper club, takes to the stage for its very first season on Saturday, October 15th with the Zoe Schwarz Jazz & Blues Quartet.
 Zoe Schwarz lives locally with her musical partner, guitarist Rob Koral, but has achieved national recognition as both an accomplished jazz singer and with Blue Commotion, her award-winning blues band. With only a handful of tickets left for Saturday's event, organisers have high hopes of attracting audiences for events in November and December looking for a good-time Saturday night out.
 Julie Sheppard, its organiser says, "I'm hoping it will pull in people who wouldn't necessarily identify themselves as jazz fans but might be tempted by the wide range of music on offer. If you can't get to our first event this month, we've got the Tom Seals Band, a cross between Jamie Cullum and Jools Holland for a great night of boogie-woogie, blues and jazz in November. And at just under £20 for an evening's music with a two course supper included, it's one of the best deals in town".
 Customers will need to book a table in advance because of limited capacity. Tickets from www.lymeregisjazzfestival.co.uk/jazz-jurassica/ or through Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre on 01297 442138.

Police Dog Hogan back in town

FOLK-ROCKERS Police Dog Hogan return to the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis, this Saturday, October 15th.
 The band formed in 2009, a loose collection of friends, who over the years had written and performed in a variety of guises and came together anew out of a simple desire to make music again. Life had intervened in the shape of day jobs and families – banjo player Tim Dowling is a much-loved columnist for The Guardian, singer James Studholme runs the Blink production company, responsible, among other things, for the John Lewis Christmas ads.
 Now with eight members, instruments include guitar, accordion, banjo, mandolin, fiddle and trumpet, Police Dog Hogan draw their influences from many different wells. You could call their music Americana, country-folk or even urban bluegrass, but it's difficult to do justice to the sheer range of styles this band can bend to its will.

 Their most recent CD, the uniformly well-received 'Westward Ho!', was praised for its "wit, passion, eccentricity and unremitting excellence". Their live shows are no less passionate or unrelenting. "At Maverick they huffed and puffed and blew the house down, leaving a trail of destruction in their wake," said Louise Rogers of Americana UK.
 Police Dog Hogan play at the Marine Theatre this Saturday, October 15th, from 8pm. Tickets are £15 in advance, or £17 on the door. To book, or for more details visit www.marinetheatre.com or call 01297 442138.

Joanna's Wound Up for new EP release

RISING MUSIC artist Joanna Cooke – born and raised in Lyme Regis – releases her second four track EP 'Wound Up' on Tuesday, October 18th.
 The lead track for radio airplay is 'More Than I Am', the EP's opener.
Wound Up follows Joanna's well-received 2015 EP Remember Me and "Last June" the earlier single she released with long standing musical collaborator Nathan Austin.
 Joanna says: "I want to avoid my music being too similar and think it's good to have some variety in my material at this stage"
 "There's something of a different approach to the group of songs on Wound Up. Some of them have a harder edge and darker feel, with a fuller production than on my last record.

 "Overall, the EP reflects where I am now in my music making and I hope people will enjoy listening to these new tracks."
 Production on Wound Up comes again from Matthew Arundell, with Nathan Austin also involved musically on the record.
 As well as this new record release, 2016 is again proving to be a busy and successful time in other areas for Joanna Cooke. Once again she'll play more than 100 live shows in the year, including festivals, plus a range of radio slots.
 August saw a stand out performance on BBC TV Spotlight's Summer Sessions. That was followed this month by an in-session radio appearance on

Joanna Cooke

BBC Introducing in Devon. Joanna's electronic dance music work continues to progress too. 'Slowing Down', the track by Brazilian DJ/Producer Vintage Culture, which includes her vocals, has now topped 1,300,000 YouTube views this year.

Medieval music, rocking Blockheads and tales from the 'Lie-In King'

WE ALL need a little lift as the nights start to draw in so the programme for late October at Dorchester Corn Exchange features plenty of lively music and comedy to brighten up those chilly evenings.

Blast From The Past have built up a tremendous reputation with their historical music shows, which have delighted Dorchester audiences over the past few years. This time they are bringing a riotous medieval romp in the form of The Canterbury Tales on October 14th. Six of Chaucer's best-loved tales are told using drama, verse, physical theatre and song to bring the colourful characters to riotous life. This is definitely not a dry academic take on English literature – the show is fast, furious, occasionally filthy and invariably funny!

There will be more laughs when Seann Walsh, aka 'The Lie-in King', returns with his new show One For The Road on October 19th. Described by The Guardian as "unquestionably the best observational comic of his generation" you might have seen Seann on TV, but he's something else live – pacing the stage, working the room and reducing crowds to hysterics.

Roger McGough has been a feature of the English poetry and music scene for 5 decades, since his early days with The Scaffold and the Liverpool poets. Along the way he has lost none of his hilarious, surreal wit and on October 23rd he joins unique poetry band LiTTLe MACHiNe in closing the Dorchester Literary Festival with a celebration of 3000 years of poetry.

The Blockheads (October 28th) remain one of the finest touring bands in the UK, combining superb musicianship and huge energy with an amazing catalogue of classic songs. The Blockheads vocalist is now the late Ian Dury's close friend Derek The Draw' Hussey, who is backed by original members Chaz Jankel, Norman Watt-Roy, John Turnbull and Mick Gallagher and a line-up of top session players. Support comes from Weymouth-based favourites The Surfin' Birds.

Mark Steel is best known for his Radio 4 show Mark Steel's in Town, and on his last visit he turned the spotlight on Dorchester in a brilliant evening of comedy. He's back on 29 October with his new stand-up show, Who Do I Think I Am?, in which he turns the spotlight on himself for a change, and tells his story with his usual wit and aplomb.

Tickets for all shows are available online via dorchesterarts.org.uk, in person from the Corn Exchange Box Office or Dorchester TIC, or by phone on 01305 266926.

And Then Come The Nightjars

PRESENTED by Theatre503 and Bristol Old Vic in association with Tara Finney Productions.

South Devon, 2001. Jeff is a dairy vet with a problem. Michael is a cattle farmer – he is a problem.

The two men have a begrudging respect for one another, usually expressed through a shared rag, a nip of whisky and some boisterous banter. But when Foot and Mouth sweeps across the UK countryside their friendship – and indeed their whole way of life – is thrown into question. Michael watches in disbelief as his cows are rounded up, and to his horror, it is Jeff brandishing the gun.

Tender, funny and full of love, And Then Come The Nightjars is a story of male friendship against the odds, and a tribute to rural English life.

And Then Comes The Nightjars will be performed at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis on Monday, October 17th, onstage 7.30pm.

Tickets are £12/£11 available online at www.marinetheatre.com or by calling 01297 442138.

Reggae madness

DJ MADJEFF – aka charismatic Councillor Jeff Scowen – presents a night of thumping reggae at the Marine Theatre this Friday (October 14th).

Armed with his own collection of dub-tastic grooves, MadJeff will be joined by Papa Yellow, Tugela, and reggae band Jabbrock.

Music is from 8pm-12.30am, and entry is £5 on the door. The event will raise funds for the Marine Theatre.

The Fossil Lady of Lyme

IMAGINE: the world is only 6000 years old, and everything was created in six days. This was the England into which Mary Anning was born – just two hundred years ago.

Then came the pioneering work of geologists, studying rocks and fossils. The accepted truths about the world were blown apart; it became clear that there had been a vast prehistoric age, with unimaginable monsters roaming the earth and swimming in the seas. Mary Anning played a key part in these extraordinary times. She discovered the first complete fossil of a prehistoric reptile in Great Britain – at the age of twelve. Throughout her life, she continued to make ground-breaking and spectacular discoveries.

In Alison Neil's highly entertaining play, Mary Anning tells her fascinating story, and that of "the fine clever men of science" who took most of the credit for her work. The tale of her life, her friendships, her struggle to make her mark (and put food on the table) is both amusing and moving.

As part of Earth Science Week, the Lyme Regis Fossil Festival team is promoting this fantastic, one women play by Alison Neil, see alisonneil.co.uk for further information.

The Fossil Lady of Lyme comes to The Hub, Church Street, Lyme Regis, DT7 3DB on Saturday, October 15th at 7.30pm. Tickets £10 for adults, Under 18's £7.50. Tickets available from Lyme Regis Tourist Information office – 01297 442138.

A Feast with Clout

Award-winning physical theatre company present their acclaimed Edinburgh Fringe show, an absurd inquest into food from the hunter gatherer to the Instagrammer

FRESH from their acclaimed run at Edinburgh Festival, Clout Theatre comes to the Lyric Theatre in Bridport to present two nights of Feast, on Friday 14th and Saturday, October 15th, as well as an exclusive workshop on the Saturday.

Feast is a show about food. From primitive struggle, through the baroque excess to technological perversion, how has our relationship with nourishment changed throughout history?

Not for the faint hearted, this striking wordless and grotesque show employs physical theatre, clowning and multimedia to delve into the evolution of humanity, exposing consumerism's excesses and extremes. With cascades of milk, raw steaks, live feed webcams and plenty of soil Feast is garnished with abundant anarchy and more than a hint of cannibalism.

Clout will be leading a fun and physical masterclass in 'developing a character' on Saturday 15 October from 10am to 1pm. There are limited places at £20 per person. For details please see www.the-lyric.com

Tickets for Feast are £12, available in advance from Bridport Arts Centre: 01308 424204 / online, and Bear-Kat Bistro, as well as on the door if available. Doors open 7:30pm for 8pm prompt start.

Cautionary Tales for Daughters

COMPOSER and mother, Tanya Holt, brings a new show to Bridport Arts Centre on Saturday, October 22nd. The show is a foray by song into the dark heart of growing-up and the dark arts of parenting.

A recent performance of Cautionary Tales for Daughters was described in The Times as "Hilaire Belloc does Caitlin Moran". Combining "gut-punchingly beautiful" lyricism with sharp humour, soul-shaking truths are teased out of subjects familiar to us all: the disorientation of growing up and the search for identity and acceptance. Cautionary Tales for Daughters draws on Tanya's unconventional upbringing, her own experiences as a parent and real-life stories submitted by the public to cast a playful, sometimes painfully honest, light on the challenges, travails and triumphs of parenthood. As part of the performance the audience get to contribute their own words of caution and advice, which will be shared with the wider public on the show's website.

Tales of the hapless, feckless and foolish stand as warnings: Cherry the Amazing YoYo Girl, an obsessive dieter caught between gluttony and vanity; Chanel The Labelled Girl, whose criminal obsession with designer clothes leads to her grisly demise; and fickle Princess Sylvia who only realises she could have had anything and anyone when it's too late.

'It's Not OK' is a heart-rending compilation of true and sometimes disturbing real-life stories drawn from group discussions Tanya undertook with men and women in Lambeth, London, where she lives. Animated backdrops illuminate the pages of a storybook as the tales unfold.

Cautionary Tales for Daughters comes to Bridport Arts Centre on Saturday, October 22nd at 7.30pm

Tickets are £12 / £10, available by calling 01308 424204 or from www.bridport-arts.com

3-2-1... The countdown begins to tempting autumnal offers from SsangYong

AS THE nights draw in and the heating goes on, SsangYong is announcing three tempting offers to warm its customers this autumn.

The '3-2-1' offer provides three years free servicing, two years' additional roadside assistance and one year additional VED (vehicle excise duty), no matter which car you purchase in October. All SsangYong models already come with the most comprehensive five-year limitless mileage warranty.

Additionally, on its Italian designed Korean built Korando crossover, you can now step up to a two-wheel drive Korando EX but for the same price as an SE at £16,250, or with 4x4 from just £17,750. This gives you 'free' heated front seats, rear privacy glass, auto dipping rear view mirror, automatic air conditioning, 7" touchscreen with rear view camera, rear parking sensors and 17" alloy wheels.

And on the rugged and highly capable Rexton 4x4, the SE & EX models now come equipped with free Mercedes-Benz automatic transmission and metallic paint from just £23,500.

"In addition to offering great value and extremely well equipped cars, we are always looking to go that extra mile to help reduce the cost of motoring for SsangYong owners," said Paul Williams, CEO of SsangYong Motor UK.

"SsangYong is a real value-brand and we demonstrate that whenever possible. Korean built and comprehensively equipped, affordable prices and with a warranty no other marque can match, we are confident that with such highly tempting offers as these you will be seeing many more SsangYong cars on our roads this winter."

Yetton earns Terras a point at Hitchin

Hitchin Town 1 Weymouth 1
Evo-Stik South Prem - att; 384

WEYMOUTH grafted their way to a hard earned point at Hitchin courtesy of Stewart Yetton's second half equaliser at Top Field on Saturday.

The hosts, unbeaten at home this season, almost took the lead when Dan Webb struck the post with a header from Lucas Kirkpatrick's corner, before Alasan Ann header just wide from Kane Smith's free kick.

Then, after it took three Terras defenders to stop Smith getting in a shot, the ball rebounded to Robbie Burns whose shot struck Calvin Brooks before deflecting wide.

Smith was in action at the other end - heading Weymouth's first real effort on goal, a Charlie Davis free kick, away for a corner.

Hitchin's dominance was rewarded three minutes before the break.

Ashley Wells, instead of perhaps putting a through ball into touch, tried to keep it in play, but only succeeded in kicking it against Ben Walster who swiveled and fired in an angled shot beyond Dan Thomas and into the opposite corner of the net.

Weymouth equalised nine minutes into the second half when Jordan Copp's left wing cross found Yetton, and with keeper Michael Johnson seemingly in no-man's land, his shot beat a defender's despairing lunge on the line.

Chances were at a premium after this, although Dean Evans tested Johnson with a shot the keeper did well to reach and turn away.

Late pressure from the Canaries almost saw them singing, when Smith got his head to a deflected cross, but his powerful effort was straight at Jordan.

home win against Portland Utd Reserves.

Milborne Port and Boscombe Polonia played out a 2-2 draw with Joe Boon and Maculay Biddle scoring for Milborne. Wincanton Town Res won 3-0 away at Blandford Utd Reserves.

DIVISION ONE
No games due to County Cup

DIVISION TWO
THE only game in Division Two, due to County Cup games, and Broadstone Reserves took full advantage to win 5-2 away at Portland Town Reserves.

Alex Counter and Josh Basquill netted for Portland.

DIVISION THREE
OKEFORD are another of the league's unbeaten table-toppers following their 4-1 away win at South Cheriton. Tom Baker netted the South Cheriton consolation goal.

Sturminster Marshall, also unbeaten, took all three points with a 1-0 away victory at Portland Town A.

Elsewhere, Wool & Winfrith won 5-2 at home Okeford. On target for Wool were Callum Dean (2) Martin Rolf, Lee Perry and Niall Palmer.

AFC Blandford and Allendale A played out a 2-2 with Steve Crane and Charlie John scoring for the Royals.

Finally, Pimperne and Corfe Mullen Reserves battled it out for 0-0 draw.

DIVISION FOUR
SWANAGE RBL thrashed hosts Shillingstone 7-0 on their own turf.

Portland Town B also won on their travels at Wool & Winfrith with Floyd Muzon, Danny Clifford, Dean Ginifer netting for plus a couple of og's resulting in a 5-3 scoreline. Andrew Mott, Matt Jaques and Bruce South scored for Wool.

Bridport A and Corfe Castle Reserves played out a 2-2 draw. Ali Kamara got both of Bridport's goals and Charlie Parsons and Andy Manston scored for The Castle.

Wincanton Town won 3-1 away at Crossways with Josh Boulton scoring for hosts.

Ambitious Raptors appoint New Head Coach

FOLLOWING the announcement that previous Head Coach Bill Heinrich was to step down, The Jurassic Coast Raptors have confirmed the appointment of Mark Newell.

Newell, who has stepped up as one of the club's assistant coaches, began playing in 1986 as a linebacker for the Crawley Raiders and then had spells at various south coast teams. After suffering a serious knee injury in 1990 he began studying the game with a view to taking up coaching.

Newell joined the Raptors at the end of the 2014 season and has held a number of coaching positions at the club including Line Coach, Assistant Offensive Co-ordinator and Offensive Co-ordinator.

The club is continuing its growth and has recently been awarded a £10,000 Sport England grant which has gone towards playing kit and training equipment.

October 2016 sees the club start an ambitious expansion programme which includes three Rookie sessions and a plan to create a junior team managed by Heinrich as the game expands into UK schools under The Sainbury's School Games Programme.

Newell said, "I'm looking forward to the opportunity being offered to me by the Raptors."

"I cannot praise enough the work done by Coach Heinrich and Coach Elliott to get the team to this point in its short history.

"My goal is to continue the development of the Raptors into a contender in the SW Conference in as short a time as is realistically possible.

"The players showed their fighting spirit in every game last season, and our returning players are already applying themselves to come back bigger, stronger, and faster; so we have the building blocks necessary to continue to develop."

The club's 'Rookie' recruitment days take place in three lots of three sessions across October (now full), November and December when kit is provided. Potential new recruits should apply via the link; www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/7SYRCWS

Weymouth & Portland Rugby

Wimborne just too strong for Seaside

Wimborne 2nd XV 32 Weymouth & Portland 12

WEYMOUTH & Portland found WIMBORNE 2nds too strong for them at Leigh Park on Saturday where injuries and non-availability proved vital writes Ildris Martin.

The Seaside's manager Vaughan Carter said: "We were forced by injuries and non-availabilities to make too many changes to our squad and paid the consequences. This is no criticism of the lads who turned out, some at short notice, but in the end the lack of consistent selection cost us the result.

"Wimborne are a quality side and we had to be at our best if we were to beat them, but we just fell short on the day."

Chris Lewendon and George Carter both touched down for the Seaside's, with Kylo Farley landing a conversion.

Moto Cross

Massive entry for beach moto-cross

THE always popular AMCA Weymouth Beach Moto-cross event takes place this Sunday (16th) and once has again attracted a massive entry.

Hosted by the Purbeck MXC in conjunction with the Weymouth & Portland Lions Club, and with its ultra-soft, axle deep, Dorset sand, the meeting always guarantees a very stern test for all classes.

The format of the event is three unlimited classes for riders of either juniors, seniors or experts ability, each having two moto's apiece.

In the 2016 Experts class, run over two moto's of a tough 25 minutes duration, local Maxxis British Championship rider Jake Shipton returns to defend his Weymouth crown and will certainly start as favourite.

But Crescent KTM mounted Shipton will have a whole host of AMCA Championship boys looking to hunt him down.

Leading the challenge will be the reigning AMCA MX2 Champion Josh Waterman, along with the likes of James Dodd, Clinton Barrs, Luke Mellows, Paul Neale and Matt Ridgway who finished in a fantastic 12th spot during last weekend's big Weston bash.

Champion returns
Also defending his 2015 title will be Senior class winner Brett Moore, whilst female riders Gemma Holtham and the talented Wiltshire-based sisters Camilla and Catherine King will again be tackling the Weymouth beach contest.

The aim is for everyone to enjoy a fun, end of season meeting whilst raising as much money as possible for local charities.

Each year, the thousands of spectators who line the Esplanade can watch the action for free, the only ask being that they either purchase an event programme or donate to one of the many bucket collections throughout the day.

So get down to the Esplanade for an afternoon of great beach racing, with practice starting at midday and the first race due to blast off at 1pm.

Table Tennis

Blair and Lewis maintain fine unbeaten start

A LACK of venues due to school open days meant a lot of postponed matches last week, but it didn't stop Budmouth B taking a slender lead at the top of Division One after the second round of matches.

They beat Red Triangle away on Portland 11-26 with Jamie Blair winning all three of his matches to maintain his 100 per cent start to the season.

Budmouth A sit in second after their winning 18-20 trip to Shipton Gorge A, where Moses Lewis also maintained his perfect start to the season including teaming up with Brad Burroughs to win the deciding doubles.

Colliton X picked up their first win with a 24-14 victory over visitors Springfield B despite Chris Whitefield picking up a maximum nine points on the night.

All Saints top Division Two after a close 18-22 win over newly promoted Shipton Gorge C. Ben Hannigan top scored for the students with the full nine points for the loss of only two sets.

Pilgrims A are only a point behind Wyke D after beating their 22-16 on Tuesday evening at the Reynolds Institute.

Tony Dobbs hit the maximum nine points for Wyke but it was not enough to stop Pilgrims closing the match out before the doubles.

There was only one match in Division Three and this saw STEPS M secure their second successive convincing win of the season. They beat the newly formed Wey Valley Tennis Centre team 27-7. Martin Singer scored the full nine points for STEPS but the ever improving and highly impressive Jess Moggeridge took six of Wey Valley's seven points including a classic five setter against Jonah Corren (8).

Basketball

Defeats, but solid beginning

Bridport Evolution 67 Weymouth Riders 70
BRIDPORT Evolution recently hosted their first game of the season at the start of the campaign to get the town back on the map for basketball.

The home team looked a little nervous at the tip off and soon found themselves trailing to a confident Weymouth team, who secured a 15-12 first quarter lead.

In the second quarter, Bridport started creating good opportunities, but struggled to hit the target.

This resulted in frustration, causing two Evolution players to be handed technical fouls for unsportsmanlike actions. Weymouth used this to their advantage and finished the half 35-26 in front.

Bridport came out fighting in the second half with Eric Robertshaw and Craig Sorrell finding space to shoot and the game started to turn as they went into the last quarter only 10 points down.

Unfortunately it was too little too late as they finished losing 64-70.

Evolution Coach Craig Sorrell said: "Once the first game nerves were out the way, we pulled together well and looked like a solid team who can be competitive at Exeter league level, there was a lot of positives to take from this game."

Team; Craig Sorrell 22, Eric Robertshaw 19, Dan Park 13, Alex Reid 4, Neil Gray 2, Marcin Manka 2, Ross Hughes 2, Jack Trivett, Tom White.

North Devon 71 Bridport Evolution 67
BRIDPORT travelled to South Molten three days later to play North Devon. With a depleted squad of seven due to injuries and illnesses, Evolution looked to have a tough game ahead of them.

But they still led 35-30 at half-time. It was in the third quarter that Evolution maintained composure and with a few set piece offences working well, they went into the final quarter leading 53-51.

Unfortunately fatigue set in and with a couple players in foul trouble, North Devon started to peel in front and held on to the lead until the final whistle.

Player Neil Gray said: "It was a real shame to come home with such a close loss, but it shows we are improving constantly and being extremely competitive!"

As long as we keep moving forward, that win will come soon enough!"
Team; Craig Sorrell 25, Eric Robertshaw 17, Jack Trivett 7, Tom Glover 6, Dan Park 5, Neil Gray 4, Alex Reid 3.

Endurance races complete 2016 calendar

LYME Regis Gig Club's newest boat 'Prospero' will again be racing this weekend.

Following a recent trip to London for her maiden voyage up the Thames in the Great River Race, she will be entered in an energy sapping 'TAMAR CHALLENGE' endurance pursuit race up the river Tamar.

A crew selected from the men's competitive squad will be setting off from the start line under the Tamar bridge, rowing nine miles upstream to Cotehele Quay. A distance of over five times that of a normal regatta circuit. Cox Chris Waller will negotiate the many natural bends and shallow sandbanks of the taxing course, to navigate the crew through to the finish line.

For the crew, this will be a test of fitness, technique and discipline. They are hoping to improve on last year's time of 1hr 10m 5s.

Also this weekend, two more crews from the Lyme Club will be participating in the 'Head of the River' race - a four-mile pursuit race up the river Helford to the small village of Gweek.

◆ COUNTY HONOUR: Bridport Barracudas member Nathan Moorey (13) has been selected to swim for the Dorset Team in the ASA National County Team Championships taking place in Sheffield. With around 1,200 swimmers set to descend on Ponds Forge International Sports Centre on Sunday, October 23rd. A Barracudas spokesman said: "It is a great achievement for Nathan and a reward for his fabulous Fly Stroke, which has ranked him first in the County for his 50 and 100 Fly. Dorset ASA choose the team from all the swimmers in Dorset and it is great to see a swimmer from one of the smaller clubs get selected."

Blues bounce back with big win

North Dorset 0 Bridport 78
BRIDPORT went away on Saturday with a full complement of players, despite losing two who were recovering from injuries picked up New Milton last week writes Guy Livingston..

Bridport attacked from the off with Daragh McLoughlin taking the ball quickly back into the North Dorset half to pass out to Ricky Stubbs who side stepped his way to the line for a try which was converted by Rory Greening.

From the restart, the Bridport scrum pushed the hosts off the ball to allow scrum half Dave Cutting to move the ball quickly to the backs to Stubbs who dotted down for another three points.

Following the restart, Bridport were soon back into the Dorset half and the ball was taken well in the air from a line-out by James Tuck, passed down to Mitch Waters who drove through to score from 15 meters, with Greening adding the conversion.

The Blues were now in control of the game, and from a turnover ball in the ruck Gareth Thomson was able to move the ball out to Stubbs for another darting run to put the ball down between the posts for another simple conversion by Greening.

With North Dorset struggling to penetrate into the Blues half, they kicked the ball deep, only to find fullback Richard Pearce who ran the ball back into the hosts half and found Nathan Herbert who was able to put down under the posts allowing Greening to bag another easy two points.

With the half time whistle Bridport were well set leading 23-0.

At the restart a good high kick from Stubbs allowed Cutting to collect and cross the white-wash for another three unconverted points.

On the restart Bridport maintained the pressure and it wasn't long before Stubbs was over the line again which Mitch Waters converted with Greening forced off with ahead injury.

Then for the first time Bridport came under pressure following a penalty kick to the visitors five metre line.

But, despite five solid phases from North Dorset on the Bridport line they were unable to get points on the board after knocking-on.

Bridport dominated in the scrum and the ball was easily cleared downfield with Daragh McLoughlin coming away from the next breakdown to score under the posts, which McLoughlin converted for the extras.

The North Dorset backs were now deflated and it was not long before Bridport, with their dominant open play in the backs and quick attention to detail in the rucks, scored again through Richard Pearce and Waters duly converted with an excellent kick from the sideline.

This was soon followed by a run from half way by Herbert to put on another three points which he successfully converted himself

McLoughlin, with solid back up from Ayorinde Fraser on his shoulder, then went over for yet another three points.

The game was then finished in style as straight from the restart Pearce had a good run, out pacing the the north Dorset players before releasing to Stubbs for another three points which he converted.

Bridport will be full of confidence for the next game at home against PUDDLETOWN on October 22nd.

West Dorset Hawks Hockey

Calvert boosts Hawks with crucial winner

West Dorset Hawks 1 Devonport Services

DEVONPORT Services presented themselves as a very professional looking team with 15 players, arriving an hour early to practice some routines before the game.

On the other hand West Dorset, struggling through a lack of players, had to rely on two late additions to help them out, but both turned out to be influential.

Deciding goal
Ed Calvert scored the only goal of the game, whilst Andrew Frampton returning to the team for the first time since having a new hip played a fantastic game at left back and was voted man of the match. Tom Lown in goal kept a clean sheet, saving a couple of attempts from the visitors who also racked up 10 short corners, but a strong defence, good keeping and a slightly weak corner routine meant Devonport fail to capitalise.

Captain Rick Steele said: "We did well in the circumstances, and we must thank Ed and Andrew for stepping up at the last minute to make vital contributions."

Team: Tom Lown, Gavin Brooking, Ed Calvert, Andrew Frampton, Rick Steele, Alex Davies, Robin Goodfellow, Simon Wakley, Russell Coombes, Matt Stone, Dan Wyatt.

The club are currently struggling for players for their two teams, so if anyone is interested in playing, experienced or not (aged 16-60) they will be welcome to attend training sessions at The Sir John Colfox School on Tuesday evenings 7.30-9pm

A team continue perfect start

East Devon C 0 West Dorset A 4
THE Hawks A team continued their perfect start to the season with an impressive 4-0 win at East Devon C. Goals from John Kellas (2), Henry Middleton and Jayson Perfect gave the Hawks a score line fitting of the all round team effort.

They were fortunate to field 11 players, with the last two only confirming their availability just hours before push back.

The first 15 minutes were scrappy with both teams failing to find any rhythm. The deadlock was broken when Connolly took a free hit just outside the scoring area and, found Middleton who unleashed an unstoppable shot into the bottom corner. Kellas then doubled the lead shortly before half time after fine work from the midfield workhorse Ollie Gargrave.

East Devon upped their game at the start of the second half and created a few chances. But further goals came from Perfect and Kellas, with a well executed flick from a short corner.

With a 4-0 lead, Wilson saw the perfect opportunity to take a two minute breather. A clumsy challenge saw him receive a green card from the umpire, but the remaining 10 players on the pitch kept things tight to ensure another clean sheet.

Friendly victory

BRIDPORT finished their Summer Mixed Friendlies with a great performance at Dorchester.

Spokesperson Brian Baker said: "Such is the popularity between the two clubs that we play each other four times in the summer and four times in the winter, with the results really taking second place to the fun."

For the record, Bridport trailed by 22 shots at the tea interval before turning it round to win 127-120.

Beryl Stork, Dave Aylott and Barbara & Keith Jenkins took the top rink award winning 23-15, whilst Sandra Hargett, Derek Earwood, Phil Tattershall & Mike Parsons, were 5-17 down, before storming back to win 24-18.

Brian Suffling, Caroline Earwood, Mel Hargett & Mike Fletcher came from 5-12 down, to win 25-20. And there was victory also for Sylvia Fletcher, Gerry Moss, Erica Sarson & Barry Mapson who were trailing 12-18 with three ends left. But they turned the match on its head with a six count on the final end to win 20-18.

Unfortunately Bernard Perry, Sharon Heath, Nova Varney & Brian Baker lost their last two ends to go down 18-23, whilst Peter Varney, Val Jones, who made a fine debut, Les Heath & Phil Hedges let an early lead slip to go down 17-26.

Magpies put brakes on promotion contenders

Dorchester Town 2 Leamington 2

Evo-Stik South Prem - att; 461
DORCHESTER Town earned a very creditable point against a Leamington side who are once again pushing for promotion this season.

Despite having been stretchered off with a neck injury just six days earlier, Nathan Walker took his place up front as the Magpies looked to build on the victory at Hayes & Yeading in an effort to establish a mid-table position.

The game also saw the introduction of Tom Blair, who signed non-contract terms earlier in the week. Having scored for the reserves in midweek, manager Mark Jermyn found him a place on the bench.

Dorchester started well and inside the first two minutes, Mario Mateus almost made the Brakes competitive as keeper Tony Breeden pay for a poor clearance, but his shot was deflected, before Lewis Morgan collecting Jake

by Stuart Broom

Smeeton's clever pass, neatly lobbed the visiting captain, but the ball struck the far upright and bounced back into Breeden's arms.

However, it was Leamington who took the lead on 14 minutes Robbie Thompson-Brown firing in a speculative 35-yard shot that beat Shane Murphy and went in off the post.

With the Magpies looking for an equaliser, Blair was introduced for his senior debut on the hour, but it was the Brakes who went closest with Richard Taundry failing to hit the target from close in, and Murphy being forced to save from Thompson-Brown.

However, the equaliser came on 69 minutes; Walker's initial effort was charged down legally, but his follow-up struck the outstretched hand of Taundry as he went to ground. Although Breeden guessed correctly, he couldn't reach Smeeton's perfectly placed spot kick.

Blair almost made the perfect debut, but Breeden saved his shot as Dorchester went looking for a winner.

But it was the visitors who went ahead when Taundry stepped up to curl a free-kick around the wall and in off the upright.

However, Dorchester were not to be denied, and when Jermyn headed Neil Martin's cross into the six yard box, Ben Wood with his back to goal, swivelled to score his first goal for the club.

"Leamington are a good side and will continue to be a threat this season, so it was a very good result," said Jermyn

On Blair he said: "He's big and quick and certainly wasn't phased by coming straight into the first team."
